

Empower Decisions with Self-Service Analytics

Put governed, reliable data directly in users' hands to accelerate insights and business impact.

AI, advanced analytics, and decision making are only effective if your teams can access trusted data. When they can explore and analyze data on their own, innovation flourishes. Self-service analytics eliminates the bottlenecks that hold teams back, enabling every department to turn data into insights quickly.

67% of data and analytics professionals do not fully trust their data for decision-making, according to TechRadar. This creates a barrier to self-service adoption.

Democratize Data and Accelerate Insights

The Actian Data Intelligence Platform enables teams to search, access, and trust the data they need without relying on IT and without compromising compliance. By democratizing access to governed data, every decision is data-driven.

With Actian, you benefit from:

- Instant discovery and search. Use Google-like search capabilities powered by a federated knowledge graph.
- Trusted and quality data. Preview data assets, check metrics, and use data that's accurate and complete, and fit for purpose.
- Governance guardrails. Have peace of mind that access policies are baked in, so compliance is automatic.
- Reusable data products. Share contract-backed data products across teams to maximize efficiency.

Actian delivers the speed, trust, and agility needed for self-service analytics.

Driving Agility with Data

Automotive Cells Company (ACC) designs and manufactures sustainable battery cells and modules for electric vehicles.

- Challenge. ACC needed to manage data complexity and volume, ensure clear data ownership and access controls, and comply with strict industry regulations.
- Solution. The Actian Data Intelligence Platform with its intuitive data catalog simplifies data discovery, enabling users to quickly find relevant data. This makes data accessible.
- Outcome. ACC centralized data discovery and access, enabling employees to easily find data, understand its context, and request access, with clear ownership to streamline management and compliance.
