

Stay Ahead of Regulations with Trusted Data

Deliver governed, AI-ready data that ensures compliance, reduces risk.

Regulatory requirements grow more complex every year. From GDPR and CCPA to HIPAA and the EU AI Act, organizations face a constant challenge of how to manage, protect, and prove control over sensitive data. What's needed is a data intelligence platform that embeds compliance and governance by design.

77% of executives say their company has been negatively impacted by compliance complexity, according to PwC's Global Compliance Survey 2025.

Build Compliance into Every Dataset

The Actian Data Intelligence Platform manages compliance automatically while still enabling teams to use data with confidence. By combining governance, observability, and policy enforcement in one platform, Actian ensures data is useful and compliant. With Actian, you benefit from:

- Embedded governance and policy controls. Automate compliance with a modern regulatory framework.
- End-to-end lineage tracking. See where data originates, how it changes, and where it's used.
- Continuous observability and anomaly detection. Identify risks and gaps before they cause violations.
- Reusable, governed data products. Ensure teams share contract-backed, audit-ready data assets.

Actian delivers the clarity and control you need to turn compliance from a burden into a business advantage.

Ensuring Compliance at Scale

Generali Group is a global insurance leader.

- Challenge. Managing sensitive customer data across more than 50 countries, Generali needed to ensure regulatory compliance while improving data ownership, lineage, and accessibility.
- Solution. With the Actian Data Intelligence Platform, Generali centralized metadata into a single data catalog, managing more than 11,000 datasets and over 300,000 fields. The platform unified governance, automated compliance, and created a one-stop shop for understanding data.
- Outcome. Generali streamlined compliance, scaled seamlessly, and fostered collaboration across teams. Trusted, accessible data now helps drive accountability and innovation.
