

Action and HCLTech: Better Together for AI Use Cases

Global IT services and data intelligence converge to modernize governance, improve trust in data, and support customers for life.

Full Stack Technology Portfolio

Action and HCLTech offer a robust portfolio with engineering at the core. HCLTech brings global IT services, while Action offers data intelligence and data observability capabilities to support a variety of AI and other use cases.

The portfolio helps customers modernize their data management and governance capabilities, while powering AI applications. Action and HCLTech continue to bring new features and benefits after the go-live date. This support-for-life mindset ensures organizations continue to tap into the latest technologies.

The Action and HCLTech partnership helps customers move quickly and confidently when using data for AI. Customers can create trusted data foundations, continuously monitor their data health, and operationalize governance as an enabler.

What Customers Can Expect

Organizations realize a variety of advantages with Action and HCLTech:

- Modernized data governance that scales across domains, teams, and systems, with clearer data accountability.
- Continuous observability for AI-ready data, so quality issues and drift are remedied before impacting reporting, automation, or AI outputs.
- A proven technology approach, from strategy to managed execution, embedded in HCLTech's methodology.

High Marks for Both Providers

HCLTech is the only service provider rated in the "Customers' Choice" quadrant for all six active "Voice of the Customer" reports for IT Services by Gartner.

Meanwhile, Action is ranked as "Exemplary" by ISG Research in the 2025 Buyers Guides for Data Intelligence, Data Products, and Data Observability.

Advancing AI for Customers

Action works across the data lifecycle as an accelerator for the HCLTech AI Practice and HCLTech AI Foundry. Together, they offer:

- AI-enabled human experiences
- AI-driven business productivity
- AI-optimized business processes
- AI-integrated products and services
